In my last article, I told you about the "Get Clean" products from Shaklee and how they help you provide a clean, healthy environment for your family and pets. This issue, I'd like to share with you more about the company and what inspired me to become an independent business owner with Shaklee.

Shaklee has always been "Green" - long before there was a Green movement or before it was trendy. Dr. Shaklee, a chiropractor, started the company in 1956. He used nature and common sense as guides to create revolutionary cleaning and health and wellness products in harmony with your body and the environment. He brought to market in 1960 Basic-H, one of the first biodegradable cleaners. Dr. Shaklee believed that you give back to nature what you take from nature, commonly known in today's terms as sustainability.

The Shaklee business model began as a word-of-mouth distribution system that has grown into today's network of thousands of distributors located across the globe. Shaklee offers everyone the opportunity to be their own boss, chart their own success and make a difference in the lives they touch. You may be thinking you've heard this all before, but I can assure you Shaklee is different.

I chose to partner with Shaklee not only for their environmental stewardship but also their commitment to research when developing their products. The products have extensive testing, and they receive recognition from the scientific community through their published studies. As a mother of three young children, I can attest to the efficacy and strength of the cleaning products and the overall health benefits of Shaklee nutritional supplements. I have seen the results.

While I am a Shaklee distributor, I'm really in the business of helping families make healthier choices. But what I love even more is helping other people like me become successful in their Shaklee businesses. I take pride in knowing that I can make a difference.

If you have the desire to create a better life for your family and make a difference in the lives of others, I invite you to learn more about this forward-thinking company and its opportunities.
